“HIDDEN IN THE MOUNTAINSCAPE”

“Inspired by my first impression of the Canadian landscape, I attempt to convey the emotions that emerged during this experience in my piece titled "Hidden in the Mountainscape". This image is seen through various lenses that have established themselves in my memory over time, representing an intimate and primordial link to nature through the living, breathing Mountains. With a mysterious energy, the layers of icy transparencies and cold polished surfaces seek to evoke powerful imaginary scenes in the viewer. By overlaying various forms and soft colour gradients, a sense of recognition appears amidst themes of peace, hope, growth and courage.”
